

Mrs. Farmer, Rashford, Holt Win Seats

The city of Placentia will have a new mayor and mayor pro team this week as less than a third of the municipality's 12,157 registered voters reported to the polls to select a brand new majority of the city council.

The light vote for the first time brought an elected woman to the city's governing body, Mrs. Virginia Farmer, who was the trio's top vote getter. Others selected were William Rashford and Donald Holt, who ran two years ago and missed by 212 votes.

A similar fate hit the one challenging incumbent, Mayor Pro Tem Michael Callahan, who failed in his bid for a second four year term by 177 votes.

Callahan also was the subject of a mailed message, posted to 3,000 households in the last split seconds of the campaign and signed by four former mayors.

The election of Mrs. Farmer with a total of 1,626 votes, for the first time seats a woman on the council by popular election. Mrs. Mae Geeting, a wife of a former postmaster of Placentia, served on the council as an appointee for two years previously, but did not seek reelection.

Mrs. Farmer who is an assistant planner for the city of Corona, is a 25-year resident of Placentia. She also is a fifth generation Californian and can trace her ancestry back to the Portola expedition.

The attractive new city council member leaves a vacancy on the Placentia Library Board of Trustees, on which she has served for eight years. Mrs. Farmer presided as president of that group during the time of the building of the facility's new spacious headquarters at the Civic Center.

"In my eight years as trustee on the library board, I responded to citizen input in an effort to provide the sort of services and facilities the people wanted, which were within the financial means of the district. I plan to continue this sort of policy as a councilwoman," she states.

"There is great need in Placentia to have a council responsive to all the people, a council which will work together responsibly in dignity, with respect for each other and all the people as human beings," Mrs. Farmer responded in an election statement.

Mrs. Farmer reported that most of her campaigning was concentrated in the last two weeks of the election. Her husband, Glenn, served as her campaign manager.

The election was the most unique birthday present for William Rashford, who became 35 on election day. The successful candidate, who had met the public in an extensive series of coffees, was a close second to Mrs. Farmer in voter appeal with 1,593 tallies.

Rashford is an electrical engineer with the Data Processing Products Division of Hughes Aircraft Company in Fullerton and has served Placentia as a planning commissioner for the past four years. He is the father of four young children.

"I have volunteered to serve the people," Rashford outlined in an election statement, "and hope that the people help me keep up to date with their concerns about Placentia - my number is in the book. I intend to work hard for the city in the next four years and ask that people be understanding when we are faced with tough decisions."

It was Rashford's first bid for public office.

Close to the top vote getter was third selection Donald Holt, whose vote of 1,424 was just over 200 less than Mrs. Farmer's.

Holt, who is a third generation Californian, is the area sales manager for Corn Products, Inc., a unit of CPC International, Inc. He is the father of two sons.

Holt said in his election statement: "You can see from the many people involved, why, in the closing weeks of the campaign, I felt such a tremendous degree of responsibility that I must win, not only for myself but for them. Now an even greater responsibility has been put into my hands—a responsibility to represent each and every citizen to the utmost of my abilities.

"The one promise that I have always made and will continue to keep is that I will equally represent every citizen in Placentia and see that every citizen who approaches me is heard with a mind open to their problems or suggestions."

Incumbent Mayor Pro Tem Michael Callahan did not fare as well in his bid for reelection but lost to Holt by a slim margin. He had served on the council for four years and the planning commission prior

Last Minute Letter Muddies Campaign

A city council election campaign letter, labeled by its target as "a blatant smear" was posted less than a week before the end of the April 13 campaign by its authors pointing out that they are four former mayors.

The missile was mailed to 3,000 Placentia homes "which showed the most registered voters," one of the signers, former Mayor Robert Langer explained.

Attacking Mayor Pro Tem Michael Callahan, the only city council incumbent to seek reelection, the authors of the letter, presented a list of reasons why they believed Callahan should not be reelected.

None of the statements reflected illegalities, Alfred Aguirre, a former mayor pro tem and another author of the letter indicated. "Just mistakes in judgement."

Vic Michel, another of the former mayors, currently president of the Placentia Library District and a strong supporter of Virginia Farmer, said that the letter had been worked out in meetings at both his and Langer's homes and that "all of us wrote it."

Former Mayor Jack Gomez, for whom a community center is named in the city, was the other signer.

Also attending the sessions when the letter was drawn up was former Mayor Robert Finnell along with Aguirre's son, Rick Aguirre, who is an attorney and has recently established his practice in Fullerton.

Aguirre indicated he wanted his son to look over the material for any possible legal problems.

Also invited to participate was Mayor Robert Lyons, Michel said. "But he declined."

Finnell decided not to join the group, one of the signers stated and later wrote his own letter, hand delivering it to the two local newspapers. Finnell's most recent appearance before city council was in strong support of City Administrator's Edwin Powell's recent 10 per cent pay boost to $37,303 annually, one of the largest in the county for a city Placentia's size.

Finnell recommended to voters in his letter that Callahan not be returned to council. The former mayor said that he has sold his Placentia home and will soon be moving to the city of Yorba Linda.

Callahan, who indicated that he had been anticipating some kind of a

Police Raid Arrests 8 For Narcotics

In a pre-dawn narcotics raid last Wednesday morning, police officers from five cities, including Placentia, arrested eight local residents on felony warrants for sales of heroin.

Arrested and charged were Frank Hoins Gomez, 58, Teresa Gomez, 54 and David Frank Gomez, 35, all of 962 Tafolla Street; Juan Anthony Gonzales, 23, 902 Gonzales Street; Peter Guadalupe Castellon, 19, and Christina Perez, 18, both of 536 Center Street; Henry Martinez Jr., 38, 967 Tafolla Street and Mario Venegas, 22, 941 Gonzales Street. The raid culminated a two months investigation by the Placentia Police and Orange Police Department. Sgt. Dick Smith of Placentia and Sgt. Gary Purser, Orange, coordinated the investigation and were assisted by the Garden Grove, Huntington Beach and Stanton police.

Thirty officers from the five cities participated in the raid and reported that more arrests are anticipated.

A small amount of heroin was found.

Labor Talks In Progress At Library

Salary negotiations for members of staff of the Placentia Library District are now in progress, David Snow, Library Director confirmed this week.

The employees, who opened the talks with a proposal, have presented it to the Library Board of Directors and have received a counter proposal.

Snow said that the negotiations would be continued in private unless the employees wished to break their silence.

Library employees last year affiliated themselves with the Orange County Employees Association, to which Placentia city employees also belong.

The employees latest proposal is expected to be heard by the board at a Trustee meeting on April 28.

Jobs Open On City Staff

The city of Placentia is seeking applicants for major positions of Chief Building Official and Maintenance Services Superintendent, the Personnel Department announced this week.

Jerry Grant, who has been serving as the Chief Building Official for the past six months, has accepted employment in West Covina near his home.

John Combs, Maintenance Services Superintendent, with the city for five years, is returning to private industry and will locate at Pine Mountain, California, where he will be in charge of maintenance, utilities and streets.

He will join Thomas Nelson, previously Placentia Director of Community Development, who resigned to accept the post of administrator of Pine Mountain, a privately owned community.

Fiddling Filers Find They Must Flee

Income tax subscribers who resisted mailing in their returns until the last possible minute, found it was more easily contemplated than accomplished.

A sign inside the Placentia postoffice April 15 revealed that any letters mailed after 6 p.m. would bear the postmark of the following day.

Late arrivals, who may have thought they could post their returns until midnight had to scurry around for a postoffice with a different set of SNOW 'N SUNSHINE turned Kraemer Park into a summer snow resort last week as youngsters poured into the park to take advantage of the regular once a year snow fall. Becoming a traditional event during Easter vacation week, the snow is especially transported by truck from a nearby ice house and spread enticingly over two hills in the local park. The youngsters bring their own conveyances from cardboard boxes to sophisticated sleds and happily take the exciting excursion on from there.

Miss Placentia 1976 In Saturday Pageant

Fifteen of the city's loveliest ingenues will be competing Saturday for the 1976 title of Miss Placentia.

The colorful pageant will be held in the Valencia High School Auditorium, 500 North Bradford Avenue, with curtain time at 8 p.m. Donation for adults is $1.50 and for students and senior citizens, $1.

The show will open with the "Bicentennial All American Girls," including the 15 contestants, singing "It's A Grand Old Flag." Coordinating the show will be Jim Sackett, serving as organist and musical director for the evening.

Heidi Liebl, Miss Placentia 1975, will present as her part in the talent segment, a modern jazz dance interpretation to the music from "Cabaret."

Another attraction will be "The Cores of Dixieland", directed by Mike Olson, who will offer special musical selections during the program.

The highlight of the evening, the directors report, will be the crowning of Miss Placentia 1976 and the presentation of her court. Frank Freeman, Placentia's own "Bert Parks", will sing "Sweeter than Springtime", which he originally composed for the 1968 Miss Placentia Pageant and has performed each year since that time.

During the evening, the five judges will make a special selection of a deserving recipient for a three months scholarship to the Orange County Ballet Company.

Among the gifts the 1976 Miss Placentia will receive will be a weekend holiday in San Francisco, the compliments of Air California.

Competing in the contest will be Taina Rouse, Gayle Pereira, Doreen Olivas, Jaime Laughlin, Tricia Allbright, Deanna Musgrove, Lynne Early, Leigh Hoskins, Kathy Edison, Laura Belwish, Dianne Ballantyne, Cheryl Rogers, Tricia Donaldson, Mary Ann Harman and Renee Anello.

During the pageant, the candidates will compete in bathing suits, in formal gowns and in a talent competition. The event is sponsored by the Placentia Chamber of Commerce.

Bradford House Slight Loser In Vote

The fate of the Bradford House remained in limbo this week as the historical monument barely lost an extension of its life in a popular vote.

Voters, in a light turnout, marked their ballots 1,726 times in favor of using tax monies to restore and save the two-story green house that rests among grounds covered with specimen trees on Palm Drive between Kraemer Boulevard and Bradford Avenue. The no vote was 1,946.

The home was built by Albert Summer Bradford, the founder of the city of Placentia.

With only 220 ballots separating the proponents from opponents on the subject of maintaining the home, it was expected here this week that the Placentia Founders Society and informal groups that have worked diligently for its escape from the bulldozers, would continue their efforts to preserve the home.

Donald Holt, Jr., who had closely associated himself with the preservation of the home and had actively campaigned on its behalf, has been elected to the city council.

Groups working for the project have indicated that if it is declared an historical monument, grants of funds for its restoration might be forthcoming from levels of government above local resources.

The vote on the home in Tuesday's election was informational to the council and not mandatory as it was phrased by members of the governing body wording the ballot. (Statement on Page 2).

Vacancy At Library To Be Filled

An appointment to the Placentia Library District Board of Trustees is expected within the next 90 days to fill a vacancy created by the election of Mrs. Virginia Farmer to the Placentia City Council.

Borrowers Bring Booty Books Back

The Placentia Library District's Fine Free Day did just fine.

Retrieved during the one-day hiatus from penalty were 538 items...many overdue by two to four weeks, but 116 were overdue by more than a year.

Past due business at the return desk on the one special day accounted for $3,990.52 replacement value in books, records and magazines which tardy patrons returned to the library shelves.

Mrs. Farmer's resignation had not been tendered at Wednesday night's Library Board meeting, but was expected before her first city council meeting Tuesday night.

Vic Michel, president of the Placentia Library District board explained that the body has the privilege of naming Mrs. Farmer's successor for a 90 day period. After that time, the appointment would be made by the Orange County Board of Supervisors.

The next election of the library district is scheduled for March 8, 1977.

Of the current board, Michel, Fred Aguirre and Kathryn McKnight were originally appointed by the supervisors and have since been reelected. Mrs. Farmer and Mrs. Irene Czaplinski were chosen in election and have been reelected. The last election choosing Mrs. Farmer, Mrs. McKnight and Michel was unopposed and an actual election was not required.

IT'S THAT TIME AGAIN--when all clocks spring forward one hour. The witching hour for daylight savings time is 2 a.m. Sunday, April 25, which magically becomes 3 a.m. Here Tricia Donaldson, who is The Placentia Courier's entry in the Miss Placentia 1976 contest Saturday night, gives some assistance to a local jeweler down the street from where she works at The Yorba Linda Star, in changing a few of the clocks around the place.

Letters To The Editor

Rospaw Eyes City Hall

To The Editor
The Courier

Betty Mead:

The basic difficulty in Placentia City Hall is the confusion of dissent with disloyalty.

This same confusion brought a Yorba Lindan back to San Clemente for early retirement with only a pardon arranged by his book agent to furnish comfort.

In this country, for 200 years, the right to differ has been a basic right. Yet in our own miniature Watergate we see friend fighting friend, we see the necessary coalition of city working with schools, which was the way our growth came into being, shattered, and we see Councilman squabbling in public about things they only dare discuss in private, thus leaving the public to view a process which makes about as much sense as a movie "edited" for TV.

The City "wins" the case against a fire department long since departed. But a lawyer from out of town, hired in secret and lunched in style at our expense, with plenty of "in" hangers-on on the tab, carts off enough of our money to have brought the City Hall up to city fire standards.

Between the regular city attorney, who got the job by becoming partners with the former city attorney, and the "special", more than enough money was expended to have rehabilitated not only the Bradford House, but the Key House as well.

One Councilman told me that he had a folder of opinions from the City Attorney concerning the Brown act. Yet, neither he, or any of our recent Council, and particularly the staff, seem to have any conception what the law of California really is.

The Brown act says simply that the people's business shall be conducted where the people can participate. I am ashamed to admit that City of Placentia has been a gross violator in both spirit and intent.

Councilman, Robert Langer, he who ends what should have been some proud time in office mailing scurrilous literature designed to miss the weekly newspaper deadline thus preventing any local response—said he was "embarrassed" to discuss the matter of pay of public officials in public. Why?

If public officials don't want to discuss their money, which is taken from the people by force, they should get out of public life. The people's business should and must be discussed in public and why is this embarrassing?

Some years back an earlier City Administrator had a city car which had license plates without the "E" in the diamond which marks an exempt car. At the end of his term the then Council—and at least two who signed the recent mailing were then seated—learned that city cars which don't have "E" plates are undercover cars and that they must be used for that purpose only. The Council said that it would never happen again.

A new Ford with a non-E plate is parked at City Hall, on some days, anyway. It is in an official spot. Is it undercover? Or is it a City Car? Why not proudly tell the world that it is from Placentia. Or is it a badge of shame to be from the All American City?

I personally accept some responsibility for the present situation. And other citizens who have watched things happen, and seen what was once a close community fly apart should accept some also.

I was determined to stay out of the election of April 13. But I do feel impelled to make some suggestions concerning reorganization. It is obvious that City Hall needs new leadership, and I am stating directly that three new Councilmen is just a start.

After the top job is filled the most important may be city attorney. Instead of an adviser to five Councilmen on how to beat the Brown Act at 20 thou a year, maybe, through applications and open hiring we might get someone who will act as lawyer for all the people. The problem that some of the agencies experienced this year past might have been less had all of that legal fee money been expended in the interests of the people rather than private and backroom brawls. I thought the 40-hour work week for firemen made sense and still do. But the preparation and conception and follow-through was dismal.

Once the fight started the fire house should have been cleaned out at the start and the people should have been leveled with. We used to bore people with questions at press conferences about when youth agencies operating out of store fronts on Santa Fe Street were going to get use permits. But note that the question was still being asked when the Elks tried to help the Boys Club which is more than any single person in City Hall can state.

The Valencia High homecoming parade has been a tradition for 20 years. Once both the fire department and the police department led the parade. This year the Director of School Activities, who was coordinating the parade, also had to direct traffic at street corners. The cop who smiled and said "Gee whiz, we blew it" might not have thought it so funny had a car plowed into the middle of the marching band and killed a kid or so. And the public might even have gotten off their apathy to ask why.

A City Council meeting which, if it had not been official, would certainly mark a low point of any city government was held last summer. Papers long passed on to Council had neither been read nor studied.

While other communities worked with their schools and got into real Bicentennial projects our council dithered and dawdled about nonsense. Buying a flag and putting it up a pole, which took the owner of a shopping center one day, took the city seven months. Getting the fireplug project underway was simple. The chairman resigned from the Bicentennial committee and got it approved in the CA office first even while the committee was going through the motions of following "correct" procedure.

The meeting with Council was a special meeting. Only one item was on the agenda. Suddenly, with four councilmen present, including one who did not bother to attend the Bicentennial part, the Councilmen decided to have an executive session, tossed out the committee and patiently ignored the clear legal requirement that any executive session, to be legal, has to start from an agenda published and announced 24 hours in advance.

In later discussion it was casually admitted that the whole thing was probably illegal.

What the new council needs to do, after getting a legal adviser who can read the law, is get out of the back rooms and set a procedure which makes sure the public is involved in the public business.

An executive session should be called for one item only and it should be clear to all concerned that it is needed and necessary. The Council should adjourn after announcing what they are going to discuss and then come back and vote in public. Minutes should be kept and be available at a later date for verification. Under new law the public has a right to challenge and court costs, if the City loses, are to be paid by the city.

We had hoped that the Bradford House would be sustained by a vote of the people. While it was not, we think it important to note that Councilman Langer's (Ex-Councilman, that is) statement about the Key House showed that same lack of research so much of what the city is doing these days illustrates.

We did, at one point, indicate that the County might approach the city for some help. We also asked to be informed if they did.

We were present when the County adopted the Key project and it was then and is now clearly a county museum project. The city role is one of zoning and acting as a good host.

The Key project was found to be of county-wide significance.

The Bradford House was supported, but was clearly a city project.

For Bob Langer and Dick Samp to so blatantly mis-state some simple facts can only be representative of the type of misinformation process which must be stopped by, it appears, starting all over again.

For a city government, which can't even meet its own codes in a brand new building, to be talking about another structure without any known investigation, is grounds, we would think, to see that the entire matter is gone into thoroughly prior to any final action.

We think the new City Council should set clear policy about taping and bugging in city hall and the city. The people will once again be the city if they start from this election and demand that the new council set some standards and open up and let some sunshine into the dark corners of City Hall.

CSEA Asks To Be Official Group

A petition has been filed by the California School Employees Association (CSEA) and Placentia Chapter #293, requesting that the public school employer, the Placentia Unified School District Board of Trustees, recognize the group as the exclusive representative of classified employees in the district.

CSEA now represents a work force of approximately 400 persons, the group reports.

Mrs. William C. Morgan, reporter for the chapter, states that the action has been taken in compliance with the Rodda Bill, establishing collective bargaining.

Campaign Letter

"blast" from Langer in the closing city council meeting, as the two councilmen have at times had outstanding disagreements, said he did not believe the letter was responsible for his narrow defeat at the polls.

"At least 1,247 voters didn't believe it," he said, recounting his recent vote. "There's less than a 400 vote spread between the top candidate and my votes in fourth place."

The letter also was mailed after the last election deadline of both local newspapers, making it difficult for any of the charges to be aired in public.

That was not done on purpose, Aguirre indicated. He stated also that it took the group about three weeks to get the idea together, to write the letter and have it printed.

In the letter's final statement, the authors suggest: "We have nothing to gain by this or by who is elected, but collectively we will all lose if the best people are not elected. Because we want everything out in the open, please feel free to contact anyone of us if you have a question."

The first author contacted was Councilman Gomez who was asked who paid for the research that led to the statement in the letter that: "While expressing his concern for reducing the cost of City government, he (Callahan), is the biggest elected spender of City funds for 'personal expenses' in the history of Placentia. In the last 34 months that he has been in office, he alone has spent $6,622.99."

Gomez explained: "I don't know anything about that. You'll have to ask Langer. He's got it all verified. I don't know who did the research, but Langer will know."

Langer later in a brief telephone conversation on the subject said that the research had been done by city staff for use in a city council subcommittee on expense account reporting and guidance in setting policy.

When it was pointed out that the research material had not been made available to the press, Langer said the press would be accommodated upon request.

Aguirre, concerning the matter said that the group also had used their memories. "Finnell goes back 12 years and Langer agrees. We all could remember," Aguirre said also that he could recall having spent $250 to attend a conference during his four years of service.

Election Results

He had been one of the most audible critics of City Hall in recent weeks. His vote count was 1,247.

An apparent City Hall backed candidate, judging from signatures on his nomination papers, Robert Bircher, came in further down the list in sixth position.

The six other candidates in order of their plurality included Ed Jones, 998; Robert Bircher, 869; Wayne Bolger, 833; Robert Davis, 799; Robert Whitmore, 685 and Donald Stephenson, 444.

Association Will Honor Teachers

Two retiring educators will be honored by the Placentia Unified Education Association at its Annual Recognition Banquet to be held May 13, at the Yorba Linda Country Club.

Recognition will be given to Dick Norton, Science Teacher at Valencia High School, and Violet Ward, a home teacher. Each has taught in the District for fifteen years.

The banquet will also honor the retiring PUEA officers and other

None of the authors believed that there was any intent to form collusion between City Hall and the Library Board of Trustees. Both Michel and Aguirre are serving on the board with successful city council candidate Virginia Farmer.

"I supported Virginia because she is a very qualified person and I would like to see her elected. She is very intelligent. I have known her for 20 years," Aguirre explained.

Both Aguirre's son Cory and Mrs. Farmer have served as administrative interns with Powell.

Another of the items in the letter credited Callahan with seeking a background check on the board of directors of the Mexican-American organization, Casa Placentia "in an effort to influence Supervisor Diedrich's decision not to allocate funds to this Placentia organization. Where do background checks stop?"

Aguirre said that his information had come out of city council executive session that the background check had been ordered but that it was never undertaken.

As for the amount of public funds that Casa Placentia has been granted, he said that that information is available but that he does not know the exact amount.

When asked if the Casa Placentia board, of which he is a member, had ever hired anyone with a police record, he said it was possible but that it was not the policy of the board to have any kind of a police check made on applicants for positions.

Langer reported on the research that had been done on council expenses that no check of any kind has been launched into city staff expense accounts. "This was only city council."

Concerning the letter, Callahan stated: "It didn't fool the majority. I just want to thank the people of Placentia for allowing me to serve as their councilman for four years."

"I respectfully ask the citizens of Placentia to help the newly elected and remaining councilmen to do their job as there is still much work to be done. I know they will be paying close attention to find out what is really going on."

Regarding citizen input, Callahan continued: "It's your city and we're all in deep trouble if we don't know what's going on. Don't count on the other guy to do it, to take care of the problems. It's everybody's responsibility."

"Maybe this is what God wanted," Callahan concluded.

Altogether 3,784 ballots were cast for a 31.14 per cent of the registered voters.

Present Mayor Robert Lyons was elected treasurer of the city unopposed and collected 2,577 votes.

Two measures on the ballot to bring Placentia law into conformity with state edict on candidate residences were adopted and the heritage home Bradford House was turned down by the voters with a 1,726 vote to save it at taxpayers expense and 1,948 against. (Candidates statements and popular vote appear on Page 11).

The public is cordially invited to attend. The evening will begin with a social hour at 6:30 p.m. and dinner at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are $7.50 and may be reserved by calling the PUEA office, 524-3015.

Letters To The Editor

Bradford House Says Thanks

Dear Editor,

Thanks! - for your fine coverage, interest, and insight on the Bradford House initiative which appeared on Placentia's City Election Ballot April 13. All of us who were privileged to host the Bradford House Tours on March 28, April 4, and 11 as well as the many hundreds to whom you made the subject known, it's history and it's questionable fate, are indebted.

Indeed -- in Placentia "The People Are The City" - and the people have a heart - and the heart is what, in essence, makes Placentia the "pleasant place".

Never was this more evident than in the joy and warmth, interest and real caring expressed by the continual stream of folk visiting Bradford House and grounds amid sunshine and showers.

Because all of the volunteers committed themselves to the project in such a genuine and heartfelt way I hope you will find space in your paper to acknowledge their many talents and services.

The tour guides, who incidentally conducted sixty-six tours; a total of approximately 1,650 people, were John Leitch, Bill Tynes, Mike Topp, Sally Manville, Georgetown Price, Wayne Bauman, Jake Tynes, Sheila Baker and none other than our genial Mayor Bob Lyons.

Minding the store each Sunday for the Founders Society was it's president, Sylvia Hoskins. The souvenir items were very popular and netted the Founders several hundred dollars.

Entertainment for the three open houses was provided by Kraemer Junior High Band, Tuffree Junior High Band (rained out) and The Sweet Adelines of North Orange County.

The mass delivery of 10,000 brochures, the handsome design of which was done by the local artist Lynn Van Dam, was managed by Bruce Sharp, Walt Asker, Jo Spurrison, Tim Tourne, Tom Bannister, Pat Goff, Beverly Clark, Dena Hutchins, Mrs. Gallagher, the Mrs. Gallagher, the Rev. Phil Lewis, and Marie Kopper. The names of actual walkers are unknown to me but were numerous and most were members of Girl Scouts and Boy Scout troops. Coordinating city areas was Carol Callahan.

Shopping center "talk teams" and signs were under Sue Fenwick. Great appreciation must be expressed to Cal State University for the use of their slides and a great deal of encouragement and information from Robert Sandoval and Dr. Eugene Jones, and others from the C.S.U.F. Heritage House and Arboretum: Diane and Larry Swenson, Jorice Maag and Joann Woodard.

Also our appreciation to the members of the Placentia Round Table for serving refreshments for the junior high school band members.

Financial contributions came from many individuals, the Founder's and the Placentia Art Association, president Beverly Lunger (who also helped in the organizational stages).

Cleaning the house before opening were Ruth Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Bayless Price, Dolores Miller and son Bill Miller, the Bannister family, the Tynes family and others.

I have the horrible feeling that I haven't thought of everybody - but I know they will forgive me because that's the kind of people that care about Bradford House and what it stands for and means to this community.

It's been a pleasure,

Clairce Tynes

Ms. Daphne Erikson
Subject: Traffic Conditions
Placentia Avenue at Lewis Place

Dear Ms. Erikson:

We have received your letter dated April 5, 1976 in which you requested an investigation of traffic conditions at the subject intersection.

You referred to two accidents that occurred on March 31. Although we try to prevent all accidents, it must be recognized that the majority of the accidents result from driver errors and that traffic control devices will not prevent those accidents. Our review of the police accident reports revealed that the March 31 accidents were caused by improper driving and not related to the absence of traffic control devices.

Briefly, the accidents occurred as follows: A vehicle was turning left on to Placentia Avenue from the shopping center when it went out of control and struck a vehicle parked on the west side of Placentia Avenue. The second accident occurred when a motorist observing the first accident ran into the back of a vehicle stopped at the crosswalk at Lewis Place. Obviously, these accidents could have endangered children in the crosswalk. However, it is very doubtful that a traffic signal or other devices would have prevented this chain of events.

The City Council, at its meeting on April 6, approved the placement of a crossing guard at the Lewis Place intersection. This was based on a recent study and recommendation of the Traffic Safety Committee. The crossing guard will begin work on Monday, April 19.

We believe that the crossing will provide a satisfactory level of protection for the children crossing at this location. We will continue to monitor the traffic conditions to determine if additional traffic controls are warranted.

We appreciate your interest in this matter. Please contact us, if you need additional information.

Very truly yours,

Mrs. Jo Spirrisson has been a resident of Placentia for 11 years. Her husband George and their three children Stacy, Scott, and Seth have all been active in the community. Jo has served on the executive boards of Morse PTA, Kraemer PTA, Placentia Tennis Club, Republican Women, Bob-ette's and A.A.U.W.

Last year Mrs. Spirrisson spearheaded the Morse Area Bond Committee to build additional schools. She is also active in St. Andrews Altar Guild and Treasurer of Orange County Kappa Delta Alumnae. Retirement For Duncan

A long time resident of Orange County and presently living in Brea, William A. Duncan has retired from McDonnell-Douglas Company, Long Beach, after 30 years of service. He was branch manager of Procurement Services, working for J.B. Utley, director of business administration.

Duncan and his wife, June, are charter members of the Yorba Linda Senior Citizens Club and president of the 39er Group of the United Methodist Church of Yorba Linda. Both are members of that church.

Duncan hasn't yet decided whether he will continue in his career or enjoy the fruits of the "golden years" ahead.

EYE OPENERS

BY Bob Frankeny

Use cotton swabs to clean those hard-to-reach spots in kitchen and bathroom where metal meets porcelain.

Quick decoration for youngster's cake: press an animal-shaped cookie cutter into center of icing. Outline animal part in a pretty contrasting color.

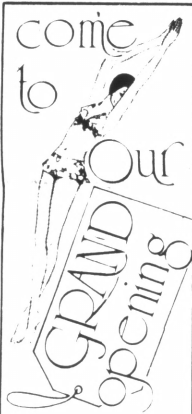

A clear plastic shoebox makes a handy freezer container for extra ice cubes.

Moldy cheese? Place in a covered container with a few lumps of sugar. Mold will leave the cheese and go into the sugar.

Yes, you CAN reheat mashed potatoes. Place in top of double boiler for about 20 minutes, then whip until fluffy.

Senior Majors Astros pitcher Craig Donahue shut out the Indians 1-0 in 7

Innings. He fanned 6 and allowed only 2 hits. Dale Bruemmer and Mark Lopez got the 2 Indian hits. Astros heavy hitters were Allen Berendsen, Paul Raya, Craig Johnson, Craig Donahue, Lars Bigelow had a double. Being rained out didn't stop the SR Major Cubs from winning their opener, 3-1, over the Astros with Dave Koerner's pitching. The Cubs forgot their loss to the Cardinals when they mauled the Athletics 6-1 with Mark Shelley pitching. Dean Gearhart, SR Major Phillies big fastballing right hander, challenged the Indians for 7 scoreless innings, striking out 5 and allowing only 1 hit, a double by John Sharp. The Phillies supported Gearhart with 4 runs on 5 hits with Steve Szalwinski leading the attack with 2 hits, 2 RBI's and a run scored. Defensive gems were turned in by Jose Carchi, Jeff Herron, Doug Lowell and Mark Weaver. Pirate Randy Dreyer made a nice catch to keep the Red Sox from scoring the tying run. In the Pirates game against the Mets everyone hit the ball as they blasted the Mets in 5 innings game called because of rain. Todd Borowski was the key man in the Pirates first double play of the season. Little League board meetings are held the second and fourth Wednesday of each month at the Kraemer Park Scout House at 8 p.m. They are open to interested parents and adults. Dates are April 28, May 12 and 26. There is a desperate need for volunteer umpires in the junior division. If you have had previous experience as an umpire or even none at all but would like to help, umpire clinics will be held to ensure adequate knowledge. Give your name and phone number to any board member, manager, coach or umpire.

FRONT RUNNER-Mike Saucedo of Esperanza leads the pack in the first lap of the mile race in the meet against Brea and he was still in first at the tape. Kycenthal and Stodola placed second and third to give the Aztecs a sweep in the event. Esperanza won the meet 81-55.

THE WINNERS
El Dorado High School is piling up athletic championships. The girls basketball team, coached by Linda Anderson, won the CIF 3-A title, and the swimming team, coached by Rick Davis and Walt Druff, won their fifth consecutive league championship.

To enable patients to live with excruciating, unremitting pain, in special cases where drugs are not indicated, doctors are now using "radio". Not the kind of radio that plays music, but special radio transmitters that activate surgically implanted electrodes.

No one knows exactly how or why this technique works but the electrodes, when activated by radiation, emit impulses of their own. These travel through the patient's nerve system and block out pain signals so they are not received at the brain and the patient is not conscious of the pain. Try our "painless" prescription service...fast and friendly. We use exactly those tested and proven drugs as specified by your doctor.

"Even if the cigarette tested had 60% more tar than MERIT, a significant majority of all smokers tested reported new 'Enriched Flavor' MERIT delivered more taste."

—American Institute of Consumer Opinion

Extensive taste-testing with thousands of smokers shows 'Enriched Flavor' MERIT delivers more taste than higher tar brands.

The bottom line was conclusive: In a series of taste tests conducted for MERIT by the American Institute of Consumer Opinion, smokers from all across the country judged MERIT to have more flavor than five leading low tar cigarette brands.*

What's really startling—and of major importance to all smokers—is that MERIT has less tar than these five brands.

Less tar. Yet more taste.

That's the report on a remarkable new taste process called 'Enriched Flavor.' A way to pack tobacco with extra flavor without the usual corresponding increase in tar.

'Enriched Flavor.' It's exclusive to MERIT. The cigarette with only 9 mg. tar, one of the lowest tar levels in smoking today.

MERIT MENTHOL is packed with 'Enriched Flavor' too. And in similar tests, 9 mg. MERIT MENTHOL was reported to deliver as much—or more—taste than the 11 mg. to 15 mg. tar menthol brands tested.

You've been smoking "low tar, good taste" claims long enough. Now smoke the cigarette.

"Peggy's Pointers"

In California, we have lots of sunshine to contend with and it determines what we use on our windows. Sun causes glare, excessive heat, damage to fabrics, fading of carpets and upholstery, not to mention discomfort to ourselves.

On windows such as those on the north side of the house, we don't really have to be concerned with sun problems, as this side of the house receives no direct sunlight. On these windows, you should strive to permit as much light into the room as you can. East windows have morning sun, but again, this is not as critical as western or southern exposure.

One of the best methods of sun control is the use of mini-blinds. These resemble the old venetian blinds with a difference. The slats are very narrow, and come in a myriad of colors. These offer exceptional light control and privacy, and can be used in conjunction with draperies for a very attractive treatment.

ANNIVERSARY
Congratulations to George and Jo Jones, who celebrated their 39th wedding anniversary, March 27...Placentia Presbyterian News.

A SPECIAL EASTER PRESENT from an accommodating Easter Rabbit (Placentia Mayor and Mrs. Robert Lyons' daughter, Terri) brought a park full of youngsters to the annual Easter Egg Hunt Saturday in Kraemer Park. The event is always a big success.

Easter Eggs On Display

BY JEANNE JENKINS

The Placentia Library is now presenting a display of Pysanky, the ancient Ukrainian art of egg decoration by Betty Baugh.

The multi-hued intricate designs are applied through a painstaking process of applying beeswax and dyes. The eggs are covered with very detailed flowers, birds, deer and geometric patterns—each of which has a symbolic meaning.

Mrs. Baugh explains that the process dates back to 988 A.D. when the Ukraine accepted Christianity and the decorated Easter egg became a symbol in the rituals of the new religion.

There are many legends surrounding this art. These vary from village to village in the Ukraine as do the rituals, processes and dyes.

The eggs are designed as gifts with a particular recipient in mind. First a prayer is said asking that the wishes for the recipient be granted. If wealth is wished a deer is included in the design. Flowers symbolize happiness, roosters fertility. The eggs are hidden until Easter when they are brought to church to be blessed and exchanged with relatives and friends.

Mrs. Baugh is of Czechoslovakian ancestry and discovered Pysanky through a magazine article. Her ancestors also produced Easter eggs but they are of solid colors and large floral designs. There are three of these on display.

Mrs. Baugh uses special chemical dyes instead of the old herb and plant dyes used by Ukrainian women but like them she has fashioned her own tools, called Kistkas which are small metal cones attached to a stick. These are filled with beeswax and held over a candle flame. The melted wax flows through a small opening in the cone and is applied to the egg. Other tools include ribbon or large rubber bands to insure straight lines, spoons, thinned shellac and cloth or kleenex.

"The eggs are the hardest to find. Ideally only fresh, well-shaped eggs are used but most eggs are oddly shaped and bumpy," states Mrs. Baugh.

When the egg is found it is cleaned and held with the thumb, second and fourth fingers of one hand. The other hand takes the heated kistka and dips into melted beeswax. The egg is rotated as one works and the designs to be left in white drawn on with the kistka. The egg is then dipped in yellow dye. Then the areas to remain yellow are covered with wax and the egg is dyed orange. The process is repeated with each color progressively darker. When all the color and designs have been applied the wax-covered egg is held over the candle. As the wax drips off the brilliantly colored pysanky appears.

The finished egg may be coated with shellac and kept forever. The insides are not drained because the dried yolk keeps the shell together. In about a year the insides dry up and create a natural weight in one end.

Pysanky is a year-round project for Mrs. Baugh. Each egg takes between six and eight hours to make plus a great deal of patience. She estimated she has made over 200 of these beautiful eggs.

Wayne Bolger Message

I am very proud of the people of Placentia. We elected three well qualified candidates who will work hard to make our community the finest in the area.

When I started campaigning I felt to be elected would require experience, ability, dedication and hard work. (We walked to over 5,000 homes and spent less than $20 during the campaign). Almost 900 of you believed and felt I was the man to represent you on the city council. To you, I give my warmest thanks and appreciation. Because of your faith in me I will continue to serve in this capacity to make this city a very pleasant place to live.

WAYNE BOLGER

UNUSUAL EASTER EGGS are now on display at the Placentia Library. Here Jeanne Jenkins admires some of the colorful and unique Easter symbols.

Election Statements—

Virginia Farmer Remarks

As a successful candidate for City Council, I wish to thank those who worked for me in my campaign. Although we were few in number, we maximized efficiency and were exceedingly successful. I must also extend my sincere appreciation to all the people who believed in me, had faith in my abilities and qualifications, and who voted me into office. We would not have gained a seat on the City Council except for the voter response.

As you know I am available to all the citizens of Placentia and urge you to discuss both issues and needs of the community with me. Without citizen input, our decisions will be much more difficult to arrive at. In my eight years as trustee on the library board, I responded to citizen input in an effort to provide the sort of services and facilities the people wanted which were within the financial means of the district. I plan to continue this sort of a policy as a councilwoman.

There is great need in Placentia to have a council responsive to all the people; a council which will work together responsibly in dignity, with respect for each other and all the people as human beings. I intend to foster dignity, respect, responsiveness and responsibility during my tenure as councilwoman.

Councilwoman
VIRGINIA FARMER

Rashford Responds

I am grateful to all who contributed to the campaign. The many hours of voluntary work performed by so many people definitely influenced the favorable outcome of the election.

I have volunteered to serve the people and hope that the people help me keep up to date with their concerns about Placentia.

my number is in the book. I intend to work hard for the city in the next four years and ask that people be understanding when we are faced with tough situations. I will strive to be logical and reasonable, and I intend to vote for what I believe to be the overall best for Placentia.

Councilman
BILL RASHFORD

Donald Holt Believes

Thank you--the strongest expression of gratitude is what I say to every individual who supported me.

Some of the most important people were those that spent tireless hours behind the scenes. Working as a well tuned instrument, they helped formulate and put into practice one campaign. What may surprise you is they are not professional political tacticians. Instead they are personal friends that I could trust. Without their capable help and continued encouragement, I may not have been elected.

My thanks goes out to each voter that took the time to investigate Don Holt. Some did it by reading, some by personal contact and others by calling my home. After all the contact it is most gratifying to know that people really do care about our city of Placentia. Please continue to contact me either in person or by phone at 528-0530.

One very important part of a campaign is money. A major portion of our campaign fund came through donations. Some of the contributions were from personal friends, others business associates while others were local business persons in Placentia. All of our committee ideas could not have been put into practice without the financial support.

A most valuable point of contact with the voters were the many coffees given in my honor. Once again the interaction that took place I hope helped the voter to decide how he wanted to vote. I know this communication gave me input that I will use when making decisions in Council.

As you can see from the many people involved, why in the closing weeks of the campaign I felt such a tremendous degree of responsibility that I must win, not only for myself, but for them.

Now an even greater responsibility has been put into my hands--a responsibility to represent each and every citizen to the utmost of my abilities. The one promise that I have always made and will continue to keep is that I will equally represent every citizen in Placentia and see that every citizen who approaches me is heard with a mind open to their problems or suggestions.

Councilman
DONALD HOLT

Statement To The Press

I wish to take this opportunity to thank my many friends, neighbors and workers for their support in the councilmanic election held April 13, 1976.

Although we were unsuccessful in this our first attempt at public office, with your support and encouragement, we will likely be back another day.

I would also like to congratulate the winners in the election and thank them for the clean campaign they conducted. With the exception of the incident where a city employee attempted to use his influence in swinging votes to particular parties, to my knowledge the campaign was fairly conducted by all participants.

I would also like to remind those elected, that those of us who were not, are not forsaking the City but will be constantly observing their performance, to support them in those areas with which we agree and to offer constructive criticism and opposition in the areas where we disagree.

It was an interesting experience, both encouraging and educational, to learn the issues most pressing on your minds, and again many thanks to all of you for the support afforded me in this unsuccessful effort.

Sincerely,
ROBERT WHITMORE
